

PREWAR GAYETY MARKS DOINGS OF SOCIETY THESE DAYS; WAR ACTIVITIES NOT YET OVER BUT SOCIETY FINDS MORE TIME FOR PLEASURE

By OLLIE P. LANDSEN.

DAYS were very full of patriotic work a year ago. Rich and poor, old and young alike, were denying themselves luxuries that our men might win the war.

But the pendulum swings again to peace and happiness and society again takes on its prewar brilliancy and the appointments are becoming again marked with daintiness and beauty.

There is no doubt that many years will elapse before the days are as carefree as before the war and never again in this generation will there be the reckless spending of money as formerly for social affairs, but all over the world has come an insight into what as never before brought to mind the value of the money which is not lavished freely upon decoration and wasteful quantities of food as in former years.

Thus a happy medium is apparent now in social affairs. Once again women are beautifully gowned, parties are being given and work and play go hand in hand in all activities of woman's world. Especially noticeable were the pretty gowns worn during the past week at the social affairs. Designers, tailors and modistes are working overtime that medium and nice may be all worn in frills and dainty accessories of the days before the war required plain gowns and substantial uniforms.

Women have yet much to do in restoring the world. To her comes the task of making warm garments for the women and children of less fortunate countries. There is sewing to be done and benefits given that help may be maintained for the men of this and of the allied countries wounded in the war; help must be extended to the wounded men at home and to those returning from the far country where they have undergone hardship and been suffering. The knitting and sewing department of the Red Cross is open each morning and women are busy there fashioning garments to be sent overseas.

After a period of success far beyond even the most sanguine expectations, the work at the Red Cross shop is to be suspended. Mrs. Joseph P. Williams and her coworkers have given almost their entire time to this work and because of this fact and in account of the generous donations of the men and women in the city interested in the cause of mercy, large funds for the Red Cross have been raised.

The button drive for Memorial park is under way and a large fund will be raised for the park which is to be established as a tribute to the men of the army service who went from El Paso county to the service of their country. The grounds will comprise 27 acres in Castle Heights and the avenue, walks and drives will be named in honor of these men.

During the working month, while maids and matrons are selling the buttons on the street, there is to be a tea at the Hotel Sheldon to support the fund for the Red Cross. A group of matrons will receive at the entrance of the cafe and a very delightful dance program will be given during the afternoon hours. Bert and Harry Boyer's orchestra will furnish the music for the dance and the tea will be given by Mrs. G. A. Martin and Madame Jean Villard. The girls and matrons will drop in for a smart social affair as well as a benefit for a worthy cause.

In fact, this afternoon and evening are so filled with interesting affairs that society will not be able to be present at all of them.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Quigley are entertaining at the Quigley clubhouse with a dance honoring their young daughter, who is home for a visit from Leland Stanford, and two other charming members of the younger set, Miss Mary Ginter and Miss Grace Ginter.

Rebecca Stoddard, chapter of the I. O. O. F. will direct the program to be given this evening at the El Paso club. The dance given each week and the women and children of less fortunate countries. In a few days the clothes are returned—spotless and sanitary. And you have the satisfaction of knowing that they are handled in a far more satisfactory manner than they could have been in your own house.

The laundry never rubs. Instead the pieces have been repeatedly soused in hot suds until not a particle of dirt remains. Neither are they twisted thru a wringer.
